The army camp, its advantages and disadvantages are upon us. We welcome the people who are to construct the camp. We have been most conservative in our statements about the activities there, and the proposed activities. We expect to continue to be. We have a number of good friends in the personnel. Nobody in Grenada has done more free work with the personnel seeking rooms than my wife. Where property was listed with her, she, of course, collected her commission, but otherwise, it has been sent them to places she thought were a little better. The Grenada County Weekly's policy, stated at this time, is to give FIRST consideration to the people and the firms who made it possible for us to become established and to enjoy a measure of prosperity in short the people who will be here when the war is over.

Where there is so much smoke, there's bound to be some fire.

We have all been so busy with plans for the army camp that some people have not heard of the unrest among some of the employees at the hosiery mill. Whether groundless or not, any unrest in an institution in which the whole people of Grenada have invested so much money should be looked into. If possible unrest should be abated with fairness to both sides. Otherwise, if unrest is not abated, Grenada's greatest industrial enterprise is likely to become a liability—especially when the army and the war industries and war construction projects are calling for more and more young men.

We believe this unrest has passed the stage where one or two disgruntled employees are bellyaching. Grenada citizens must, in their own interest, in the interest of management which has invested much money and in the interest of the employees, try to seek out and eradicate the original sources of the unrest whenever and wherever found.

The army camp is a TEMPORARY affair. The hosiery mill is, we had hoped, a permanent affair.

By the way, we wonder who is going to take Brother Solar's place when he goes to the army. We heard he was going to the army right away.

After ten cents exchange was deducted we netted ninety cents from Jim Eastland's campaign fund this week.

The workmen, engineers and officials of the Jones company, to which the camp contract has been let, will fill every empty bed in a radius of forty miles of Grenada. Many people here in Grenada—who certainly do not need to rent rooms—can do a patriotic thing by letting out their idle rooms at reasonable rates.

Congratulations to Leon Province, recent graduate of GHS, who was awarded the fifty-dollar scholarship offered by the Rotary Club for the best thesis on the subject, "My Impression of a Visit to the Rotary Club."

In the mad rush of the camp, we must not forget our old friends, H. L. Honeycutt and Gene Weyneth, both of whom are laid up at home sick.

Several from Greenwood came over to Grenada last Sunday to see a railroad train.

And in this mad rush, we had better be thinking of next winter's coal. Free ad for Honeycutt and Whitaker.

Better come up town early Friday morning if you want to see the old Grenada. By this time next week, Grenada will be a madhouse.

These men coming here to work MUST have places to stay. How about renting out that spare room, even if everybody knows you do not need the money.

We welcome to our list Mr. and Mrs. Laurence J. Phillips. Mr. Phillips is the Resident Engineer of the Main Company. It is his job to see that the plans are properly executed to the satisfaction of Major Wade, who is "Uncle Sam" so far as this project is concerned.

Down at the barber shop, we found out about some new rationing cards soon to be issued, but did not understand exactly what they were. You are invited to find out the details from Sax Weir. One fellow said he would swap his rationing card for the new kind for sugar cards.

Here Mr. Top, a feller here luffed and sed that Mr. Ford didn't need no cote house 2 hole his frens but that a hole in the wall end hole all uv thim with sum 2 spare.

Belmont has a new clerk.

J. A. JONES RECEIVES CONTRACT FOR GRENADA CAMP

Simple Entertainment The Answer!

(By Mrs. W. W. W.)
A good time is being had at the new camp. The people of Grenada are enjoying the activities there, and the proposed activities. We expect to continue to be. We have a number of good friends in the personnel. Nobody in Grenada has done more free work with the personnel seeking rooms than my wife. ### In Appreciation

(By Miss Estelle Turner)
To our Editor, Caroline Whitaker, we of Grenada High owe a big debt of gratitude. Never has she failed to give us a creditable edition of school news. Though often she had to do too nearly all the work, just "as sure as taxes" was she to give us a new edition of THE BULLDOG. She reported not for a small clique but for all Grenada High. So well did she "cover" all phases of school life that on Friday morning the pupils made a mad rush for the library copy of THE BULLDOG.

For her faithfulness, her efficiency, and her generosity we sincerely thank our editor and wish her the best of good fortune always.

Some of the fellows have received cards from Congressman Ford that he wanted to meet his friends at the court house on June 5th. I did not get one of his cards. I wonder why.

TOWN HALL MEETING

(Mrs. W. W. W.)

On Monday evening at eight o'clock in response to an appeal through the press and the pulpits of the city, a large crowd of representative citizens gathered to discuss the problems with particular attention to vice conditions, which are to be ours as a community with the coming of the army camp to this area.

In the absence of Mr. H. L. Honeycutt, chairman of the newly organized group of men of the city, Mr. John T. Keeton acted as spokesman.

His opening remarks were words of greeting and a general discussion of why the meeting was called. Mr. Proby, the Mayor then thanked the citizens for their interest in the situation confronting Grenadians, and the officers of the city, and he too stressed the need for every citizen to do his or her part to help control the vice ring so sure to move in with the construction crews working at the camp. Mr. J. B. Perry, Sr. spoke with unusual emphasis on the problems of controlling bootlegging, dance halls, night clubs, where gambling runs wide open, and cited instances where this very state of affairs has hurt communities, he held recovery in morals and financial state.

Prof. John Rundle, in his sincere and comprehensive way, stated that his concern was great, especially for the 1000 white children and negro school children of Grenada. He said that in his daily contacts, he realized that the young boys of Grenada already know of the existing vice conditions, and he likened the places of vice to a swamp hole filled with slime, saying it is better to remove swamp holes rather than cover over. Prof. Rundle pleaded with the officers and citizens to protect the child of today, for he is our citizen of tomorrow.

Dr. J. K. Arent spoke equally as earnestly concerning the moral and health conditions of this, and other communities. He spoke of people who are injured while intoxicated, people who are victims of venereal disease of young people who, in trouble, seek his advice and aid of older men, who through association with bad men, come to him for help. He stated that he agreed with Editor Whitaker that since the federal government is responsible for the added expense of the camp, let the federal government pay the bill. If they fail, then the county and city must assume the cost.

District Attorney Coleman prefaced his splendid talk by saying he had no intention to mix in other people's business, he only wanted to help. Mr. Coleman said, "The law is what the people want it to be." He stated that the time to tame a lion is when it is a cub. He further said that the way to make law violators respect the law is to put the one violating the law in jail. He deplored the practice of letting a man or woman, and not adding a jail sentence. He expressed his contempt for the man or woman who deliberately practiced vice for money. He is ready at all times to help people in his district enforce the law.

Mr. H. J. Ray, secretary of the organization spoke in conclusion, summarizing up the situation, and implored the citizens to have more meetings. He read the following resolution, which was duly passed:

Resolved by the citizens of Grenada, Mississippi:

1. That we have, and deem it our privilege to express confidence in the law enforcing officers of our County and City.

2. That we realize that their duties as such are increasing and becoming of more magnitude under conditions which confront us in the existing and approaching state of affairs.
3. That we expect of them increased activities to meet the conditions stated and do not doubt that our expectations will be realized. In this frame of mind we call on them for the exercise of that unceasing vigilance which the occasion requires and for the prevention of those things which may impair the public peace, morals, health and welfare. No less than this shall we expect.

4. That by every effort we will encourage, uphold, support and sustain them in their efforts for law enforcement and will render them all the aid, comfort and assistance at our command.

The above article, given in detail, is but an appeal to all Grenada citizens to rally to the community's need in the days to come. The next time we have a "Town Hall" meeting, be there.

We know the skocag merchants will be envious, but Babe Costlow paid in a dollar on his paper recently.

John Pressgrove emerged with a bull-feed hat one day, but has quit wearing it.

Cash Succeeds Dollarhide As Band Leader at GHS

After eight years of faithful and efficient directing of the Grenada School band, Mr. Roger Dollarhide, leaves his connection with the band to accept a similar position at Yazoo City.

Mr. Dollarhide will be succeeded by Mr. Allen Cash, of Central City, Kentucky. Mr. Cash is a graduate of Murray State Teachers' College, Murray, Kentucky and at one time directed the school band at that school.

During the past year he has directed the school band in Central City, Kentucky. The superintendent of the city schools of Central City writes Mr. Dollarhide that their band numbers about sixty and that Mr. Cash was one of the best band directors that had ever been in their system. He also directed the girls' Glee Club in the Union City School, Mr. Cash expects to arrive in Grenada July 1 and will occupy the apartment in the McCaslin home that Mr. Dollarhide and family now occupy and will take up the work of the school band where Mr. Dollarhide leaves it so there will be no interruption in the work of the band.

School Lunch Gardening And National Defense

(By Mrs. Laura Penn Merritt)
The goal of the school lunch program is to serve the school children a nutritious, hot, well balanced meal, and demonstrate to the community its healthy bodies for the men and women of our community—better to prepare us for defense.

The school lunch program has been organized in complete accord with the Department of Agriculture's Bureau of Home Economics, Surplus Marketing Administration and Parent-Teacher Association and other agencies working for better nutrition as a war measure. Every effort is being made to have the Gardening and Food Preservation program improve and supplement the diet of the American child, especially those who have not an adequate diet in their homes.

The WPA School Lunch Program is active in 47 States and the District of Columbia. Public schools in 1741 counties of these states are revived. From the beginning of the WPA program in July, 1937, through September, 1941, the total number of meals served to school children reached the stupendous figure of 777,125,592; more than two million school children are served on this program.

Some of the protective foods that make these midday meals attractive and of great nutritive value to the children are leafy vegetables such as cabbage, collards, turnip greens and mustard greens; tomatoes, beets, turnips, beans and lentils; butter, fresh milk and eggs; apples and citrus fruit, prunes and raisins.

The School Lunch Garden serves 3 main purposes in National Defense: they keep down the demand on general food markets, they furnish certain vitamins and minerals which children require for strength, growth and morale, and they release commercially canned goods for our armed services and for our allies, when necessary. It is important that we all work together to win the war, forgetting our likes and dislikes as individuals.

In an emergency the school lunch units, or Food Preservation centers may be useful as a community feeding center as well.

The number of lunches served in Grenada County School lunch rooms from January 1, 1942 through April 30th totaled 19,420.

It is necessary that the space now occupied by the lunch room in Grenada Elementary School building be as a class room next term, and it will not be possible to continue the serving of the lunches unless the good citizens of Grenada come to the rescue and help find a place to house this worthy project.

Our Teachers Need Homes For Next Term

(By Mrs. W. W. W.)
The school board of Grenada, during the construction of the camp, has voted an extra year on our school faculty to secure a place to live the coming school year.

National Defense Training In Grenada Doing Its Part

With our government asking that all war efforts be accelerated, National Defense Training in Grenada is doing its part to aid our cause. The Aircraft Shop Metal and Riveting school is operating twenty-four hours a day. A machine shop for defense training is operating three shifts daily. Boys are being sent out of the Aircraft school to take their places in the aviation industry as mechanics, sheetmetal workers, inspectors, and Civil Service workers. Up to the present time approximately seventy have accepted jobs throughout the country. As trainees complete the machine shop work they will be placed in war industries.

At the present time the machine shop classes are practically full and those desiring to enter will have to wait until a vacancy occurs. A number of trainees can be taken in the Aircraft school. Applications for enrollment should be made with the United States Employment Service in Grenada or wherever convenient. Boys between the ages of eighteen and twenty are specially invited to enroll. A year's work in a defense plant will serve as a good foundation for enlistment in the Air Corps when called into Selective Service. Older men are needed too. Eventually older men and women will be required to fill a large portion of jobs that will be required in our war plants. Inquiries relative to enrollment may be addressed to L. E. Norworthy, Vocational Supervisor, Grenada High School.

Miss Vivian Williams, one of our teachers, will keep up with the current gossip and bull in Grenada during the summer months through the GCW which she will receive at Kilbuck.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

These huge 60-ton heavy tanks cost $120,000, and America's automotive and locomotive plants are turning them out on a never-ending assembly line. Car many uses light tanks, weighing 14 tons, and medium tanks of 23 tons also, but we favor the medium tank over the other two.

These heavy tanks are needed for certain phases of modern warfare, and with their thick armor and heavy-gauge guns they are almost unstoppable. They are considered superior in gun power, in maneuverability and in the power of their huge tractor motors to Axis tanks. Americans everywhere are helping to pay for these monsters of war through their purchase of War Bonds. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day.

Library Reading Contest

Through the kindness of a benefactor, Grenada County Library is offering a recent Defense Stamp to the person of school age for the reading of ten books, June 1 through July 31. The books read must be approved by the librarian and the reading done by the child himself. The contest is being promoted to make more children familiar with books and library service, as well as to aid in summer recreation. Since travel is being curtailed, we are offering adventure and travel through reading.

Parents of elementary school children are urged to cooperate in encouraging their reading through the summer. By this method, the child will be better able to pick up school work after the long vacation. Readers will be available for the slow reader, through work with the school, now is the chance for such a child to gain skill and at the same time have pleasure.

New books are being added each day, so there will be a constant supply of interesting material.

If the better class of people of Grenada have their "say" in the matter, the bootleggers, the panders and the gamblers are not going to "take" the community.

A horde of potential employees were gathered about the labor office on Cherry Street this week.

Frank Kraft's Grenada Farms brought in about eighteen head of fine dairy cattle last Thursday and paraded them about the streets. They are doing a wonderful work out there not only in dairying but in agriculture. Taking a typical work out farm they have conducted at their own expense a series of experiments looking to develop this farm into a fertile, profitable dairy business. The dairy business has better prospects for a longer time than any business we can think of. The huge requirements of our own army, of the civil and military population of our allies and of the hungry people of the devastated countries are so great that it is hardly possible to supply the demand. Then, too, the war will end some day, and America must furnish the breeding stock for the wrecked countries of Europe. Kraft is doing his part in this long range program.

The least whisper of peace talk gives the cotton market the jitters, but it does not affect the price of good dairy cattle. This you can note from the daily market reports.

When this war ends, cotton is likely to go so low that you cannot get it picked on halves; and you fellows who stick to cotton exclusively will look with envy at the fellow who has some dairy cattle, if only a few.

"Miss" Chille Lickfold was kind enough to come in and renew her subscription. She observed the expiration date on her copy and did not have to be duped or sued.

Well, we see that one other thing we advocated is coming to pass: the appointment of a Police Judge to try the city cases and thereby relieve the Mayor of these minor duties so that he can attend to duties far more important, and which our Mayor is fully capable of doing.

If business at Hotel de Jail picks up much more, Matt Cooley is going to have to apply to the HOLC or the FHA for a new addition. He had about 24 Saturday and Sunday guests this week end.

Most folks who quarreled about our editorial last week about the Old Southern Aristocracy admitted that it had one virtue anyway—that of truth.

Quite a few teachers at City Schools have not yet secured places to stay when they return to duty in September. They cannot compete for places with the much better paid people. Therefore, it would be highly patriotic if you, who have idle rooms, will contact Mr. Rundle and offer space for occupancy by the teachers.

Aint they sweet.

If it were not for greedy, avaricious civilians, the soldiers would not have so many evil places to patronize. That was true in the last war, this war and EVERY war.

All of her friends are pulling for "Miss" Lillie Pressgrove, who underwent a serious operation in the Baptist Hospital in Memphis Monday.

Dewey Harrison and his partner certainly have opened up a well-appointed restaurant in Duck Hill.

Mrs. Johnnie Wyle, one of the esteemed teachers in GHS, will receive the GCW during the summer months in Hattiesburg.

One fellow said those "sisters" did not look much eaten; he diagnosed the ailment of flea-bitten. Well, have it your way. You are an expert and I am not.

They have placed Tom Meek, Ben Adams and me in Class 4-B: too much bridge work, too much bfoals, too much belly and too much fanny.

"I am sure your readers will be interested in the enclosed article," says a press release from a publicity agency. Hell, our readers already know too damn much. We are using the reverse side of the fine release for our copy paper.

There is a bunch of strangers in the city.

Mighty glad to see Mr. West able to be up and about again.

John McEldin was so tight that the Methodists got them another treasurer.

Jesse Hardy came in and paid his dues.

FIFTY-TWO RECEIVE GRENADA HIGH SCHOOL DIPLOMAS

Commencement Service

Fifty-two Grenada High Seniors received their diplomas Friday night in the GHS auditorium when they felt perhaps both a sense of sorrow and victory. For sentiment it reasons they knew that upon the presentation of their diplomas they were no longer members of this school that they had learned to love and respect in the last twelve years. On the other hand they became conscious of the fact that they were free and out on their own. It is up to themselves alone to succeed or fail and at this time they took responsibility that they had never had before.

Each and every senior owes unlimited thanks to Mr. Rundle and the teachers of this High School.

On Friday evening, May 15th at 8 o'clock, the High School Music and Speech Departments gave a lovely recital. The girls were beautiful in their becoming evening gowns reminding one of a flower garden. Both the Music and the Speech students displayed wonderful poise and interpretation for high school students. The appreciative audience agreed that the technic poise and musicianship of the music students, as also the diction and poise of the speech students was outstanding. Dirt

This is the last dirt of the year so take heed and get an ear full. "Will be mostly about seniors case after all this is our last issue—"Drop the handkerchief" and "Flying Dutchman" were the games most enjoyed by the seniors at the party Wednesday—Monty Daigre needs a scooter to get himself around—in the "Sing for your Supper" game Leon drew a very fitting old song, "Scatterbrain"—Ruth and Rogers were in their glory case they were the only "foreigners" at the party. Believe it or not; eight of our most prominent seniors had to lay eggs to get in the "hen" club—Jackie said she thought the pencil given her at class day was mighty nice but she still loves her Penn the best—Bernie Cohen is learning to dance and has been giving the girls a thrill—Polly was looking sweet enough Friday night with her buddy, Buddy Arent—Lenny Province is teaching Lou Cullen to drive with the help of yours truly and Jack Ward—THE SPEED COP CAUGHT WINNIFRED SAUNDERS DOING A LITTLE OVER THE 40 MILE LIMIT—Mary Lou has been seen around a lot with Robert Trussell—Lou and Emmett were at the show Saturday night celebrating their freedom—Baby Billy Horton stood up very bravely Friday night when he got his sheep skin—He didn't even use the handkerchief given him Class Day—Everyone has gotten the dancing bug—Billy Guy is still beaming over her new ring Turnip gave her—Jackie and Benton had a good time after Graduation night—By the way, Benton was seen with Mickey Johnsony at the bowling alley the other night—Bet and Bebe were together Sunday night—Bernie and Rowe stood outside the door Friday and wiped the tears from the seniors' eyes—At the church service at the Baptist church on the 17th, the ushers were told to keep a strict lookout for all stray horses, cows, cats and especially dogs—They did a fine job as there were no interruptions—Jay Gore sure did give Lou Arent a pretty bracelet—Clark Corley sent Dot Talbert flowers to her recital and she is also sporting a locket he gave her—Poor Anne Duncan, she is not going to get any rest as she is going to school at Belhaven this summer—Most every senior has been gaining weight as they have been getting such good food at all of these parties—Polly had a good time setting her clock up and back that she was given Class Day.

The problem of what to send a service man has been solved by the men themselves. Tobacco tops the list of gifts service men prefer from the folks back home, according to numerous surveys. If you have a friend or relative in the armed forces—Army, Navy, Marines, or Coast Guard—who smokes a pipe, or rolls his own, a pound of his favorite tobacco is very much in order. A big favorite with many service men is Prince Albert, the world's largest-selling smoking tobacco. Local dealers now are featuring Prince Albert in the pound can for the men in the service.—Adv.

Another Cinderella

By ADALAI D. HUFF
(McClure Syndicate—WNU Service.)

WILL DURHAM'S face lit up as he recognized the familiar, unknown handwriting on the envelope in his hand. Dropping into a chair on the deep comfortable porch of the Westway club Durham ripped open the flap and hastily scanned the contents. It was much like the others he had received from the same person, whoever she might be.

"Dear Mr. Durham:

"Here I come on my daily visit. I like to be there to welcome you to your club in the evenings because I feel that it is then a man without a home is the loneliest.

"I saw you yesterday, standing on the corner of Eighth and Market, and it seemed to me that you were looking well. I believe your business projects are being crowned with success. There was alertness in the expression of your eyes that made me glad all over. You seemed full of the zest of life from the tip of your well-shod feet right up to the crown of your well-groomed head. You reeked of success! Am I right? Aren't things going better at the office and aren't you happier than you have been in ages? Now, tell me, isn't it true?

"Each day I think of you with such sympathy and interest and when I see you and you look happy I am happy for a long time afterward. Sometimes, when I see you I long to put out a hand and give you a little friendly pat and tell you that I know everything will be all right in the end and that I believe in your innocence. I long to do lots of things just to comfort you. I long to let you know who I am, but I'm afraid you might think I was flirting with you when I really am not. That is the only horrid thing about good-looking eligible men; they can't help thinking girls are flirting with them.

"This is enough for now. I'll write you again tomorrow."

That was all. No signature. No date. No address. He was more puzzled than ever; the letters had been coming for months now, and he had grown to look forward to them as he might to the visit of a very dear friend. Who could she be?

Certainly one who was intelligent and observant, else how could she tell by his face that things were going better at the office? Yet, she was exactly right. What insight she must have to write such letters. What did she look like, he wondered, and how old was she and would she, could she ever learn to love him after having been implicated in the Baker Brothers' disgrace? Innocent though he was there had been many who had suspected him of being guilty. There had been the disgrace of the long grilling trial, and that the whole thing had injured his business reputation he realized only too fully. Yet from her letter, she did not seem to mind this.

The following weeks brought more letters as puzzling as ever. At last, because he felt that he had to talk of it to someone he took his private secretary into his confidence and told her about it. He tried to make his voice sound casual but he betrayed his eager interest by the nervous way he toyed with the things on his desk.

"It's terribly interesting," said little Miss Harmon, when he had finished. "Sort of a Cinderella affair, only it's letters instead of a slipper."

"Exactly," he answered warmly. "If I could only find her? How would you go about it? I haven't done a thing because I couldn't think of a thing to do."

"You might not like her if you met her," said Betty Harmon thoughtfully, glancing up at him with her soft brown eyes.

"I would. I know I would!" he answered fervently. "She's a little saint. I don't care if she's as ugly as mud. She has a heart of gold and that's what makes life worth living. . . . I know you think I'm a fool to talk like that," he apologized hastily.

"I do not!" said Betty emphatically.

He left the office early that afternoon and went out to the club to play golf. Betty received several telephone calls for him after he went away and as usual left notes about them on his desk so that he would be sure to see them as soon as he came down. Something that he had forgotten made him return to the office that evening and a few minutes later he was rushing up the front steps of the modest Harmon home.

"What's the matter?" asked Betty, leaving her seat in the porch swing and going to meet him.

Without a word he swept her into his arms, and she felt him kissing her hair.

"How blind I've been! Why didn't I think of it sooner?" he laughed happily. "My little Cinderella. . . ."

When I saw those notes on my desk written in the familiar handwriting that has haunted me for weeks. . . . What a clever little way you had of telling me."

"I thought that was a good way to break the news gently, but it doesn't look a bit like my every-day writing, does it?" she laughed up at him.

"Not a bit. . . . but no wonder you knew when my business was going better," he said.

"It didn't take much guessing," she confessed, "when I kept the books myself, but I thought that would throw you off the track."

"It certainly did!" he agreed happily, "but you'll never fool me again!"

Slacks Gain in Popularity For Work and Leisure Wear

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

EVERYWHERE women are feeling an urge within to be practical-minded in regard to "clothes." Entering new fields of work as so many are during these strenuous times, taking up new and arduous jobs for the first time, women are not waiting for fashion to tell them what to wear, but spontaneously they have adopted well-tailored slacks and slacks suits as the practical thing for voluntary defense work, for factory work, for defense farming and gardening, for first aid and for the endless list of patriotic activities now going on at high speed.

Not that the enthusiasm for slacks ends with the utility aspect of the what-to-wear question, for there's just as much excitement going on in regard to slacks costumes to wear in off-duty hours spent in leisure and relaxation, or in active sports.

As a result of this unanimous demand for women's slacks for every-day wear as well as for leisure moments, designers have rushed to produce a larger and more varied collection of attractive styles than ever before in both costumes and "separates." An excitingly wide range of attractive fabrics especially designed for these costumes has appeared in fine rayon constructions which offer style, beauty and wearing quality at prices to suit any woman's budget and requirements.

Spun rayon reproductions of classic linen, silk, wool and worsted constructions are more interesting than ever this season. In the popular price range, slacks and slacks suits appear frequently in spun rayon fabrics of the linen, shantung and gabardine types, as well as smart covert, hopsacking, flannel and fine-wale corduroy interpolations. For heavy manual labor in factories, denim made to withstand wear and tear scores high. This serviceable never-wear-out material comes in several smart colors in addition to the traditional blue.

The vogue for bright shirts with neutral slacks has inspired the smart combination done in fine-tailored spun rayon shown at the lower left in the above illustration. The slacks in light beige are full-cut. The full-sleeved windbreaker blouse in a lighter-weight version of the same material is gaily plaided in rose, green and beige. Other costumes use contrasting shirts in spun rayons or challis or jersey types.

Careful tailoring distinguishes the easy-to-wear slacks suit shown in the foreground on the seated figure. It is in a fine linen-type spun rayon which tailors beautifully and is both cool and practical. The straight-cut slacks are topped by a matching short-sleeved shirt which can be worn as a tuck-in blouse or as a flattering hi-length jacket.

As smart and comfortable on a defense job as it is at a summer resort the attractive slacks costume at the top left in the above illustration follows the fashion by teaming contrasting colors of the same fabric. Fine spun rayon in a chic linen weave is used in red-striped beige of the same material are in deep blue.

New this season are tapered slacks. Many women with slim figures are adopting them for the sake of streamlined flattery. In addition to the more utilitarian styles the tapered slacks are being made in fine spun rayon acetate twills, in acetate rayon sharkskins and also in wrinkle-resistant alpaca weaves. These are designed for leisure wear after the manner shown at the top right in the above picture. Here the blouse of snowy acetate rayon crepe reflects the South American gaucho influence in its ruffled front. Worn with slim-lined slacks of sooty black novelty-textured rayon shantung and a bright red cummerbund the costume is picturesque and flattering.

Smartly Checked

Fashion's fancy is turning to checks and plaids with renewed enthusiasm this season. Unless you have a coat or a dress or a blouse or a suit of checked material in your summer wardrobe, you are losing out in "style." There are new cottons in wool-like textures that make up beautifully in suits that launder perfectly. The new checked rayon crepes, such as fashion the suit pictured above, are ever so good-looking and very much in demand. A monotone blouse that picks up the color in the check and the band trimming on the jacket add interest to this smart outfit. Very style-correct is the sailor hat which carries the color of the check in its bow trim and flattering veil.

Pique Makes Lovely Graduation Dresses

It's time to begin to think of a graduating dress which will later on serve happily for general summer wear. Designers are solving the problem by using eyelet pique. It is cool, it is pretty as can be, it launders marvelously and all the summer through it will most likely prove your favorite dress. One designer does the clever thing by supplying two sets of buttons for variety's sake—white for graduation day and red plastic strawberries for a vivid accent later on in the summer.

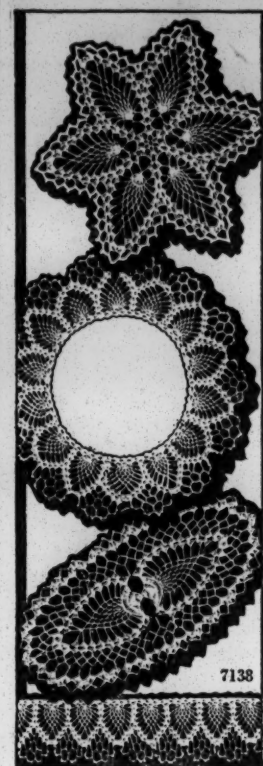

A white marquisette gown over a rayon taffeta slip is suggested for formal graduation and for summer dancing in the months to come. A yoke trimming and bows here and there on the skirt of embroidered organdie banding bring an added note of charm into the picture.

Practical and lovely is a simply fashioned dress of sleek white jersey either left all white or enlivened with vivid embroidery touches.

Parasol Brims Can Be Worn Either Up or Down

Brims are made to flatter this season. Designers are imparting softening effects in the way of ruffles of ribbon or lace that make a wide brim still wider. Some of these parasol brims are convertible into any style you want them to be. You wear the parasol brim as a face-framing bonnet, or you can flip it back to halo about your pompadour in daring off-the-face fashion. The newest models have crocheted crowns. Large straw cartwheels are definitely good style for summer.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D.
Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for May 31

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

FRIDAY: THE DAY OF SUFFERING

LESSON TEXT—Mark 14:32-34, 44-46; 15:1-5.
GOLDEN TEXT—Not my will, but thine, be done.—Luke 22:42.

Suffering such as no man ever faced came upon our Lord in the night between Thursday and Friday as He prayed in Gethsemane. Hatred and condemnation were poured upon Him as He went through the mockery of false trials on Friday.

The important events of last week's lesson had taken place, the precious words of comfort and assurance had been spoken, and now as midnight brings the darkness of night to its deepest hue, the Son of Man goes alone into the depth of the garden where we see Him.

I. Sorrowful unto Death (14:32-34).

This Scripture portion uses many words to convey the depth of His soul's agony, as though it were impossible to express it in the faulty medium of speech. So it is, for our Lord here experienced something far more serious than a dread of physical death. He was not a coward. He was not afraid to die. But now His soul was about to have put upon its spotless sinlessness the stain and dishonor of the world's sins.

As Krummacher says: "Something approached Him which threatened to rend His nerves and the sight of it to freeze the blood in His veins." Little wonder that He was "sorrowful even unto death" (v. 34). It should break our hearts to see His loving heart break!

Since this was the road the Master trod, should not His servants tread it still? Service for Christ may call for passing through deep and chilling waters, but never as deep or as cold as those of Gethsemane. Jesus took with Him into the garden the three who were closest to Him in the circle of disciples. He counted on their fellowship and sympathy in His hour of anguish. Merely to have them near Him, to know that they were there to watch and pray even though they could not share His holy burden, was to be a comfort to Him.

How ignominiously they failed. The spirit was willing (v. 38), but the flesh took the upper hand, and they slept! He was alone with His Father when He prayed that if it were possible the hour might pass from Him, but in true and beautiful submission said, "Not what I will, but what thou wilt."

II. Betrayed With a Kiss (14:44-46).

To betray the one who had done nothing but good, who had loved him and served him even in the washing of his feet, this would have been far more than one could have expected of even the sin-blackened heart of a Judas. But he filled the measure of his ignominy to overflowing by betraying his Lord with the sign of affection—a kiss.

We know that we may not stand on the same ground as our Lord even here, for, whereas He had done nothing to merit betrayal, we at our best are not able to stand forth without fault. Nevertheless, great is the hurt when we face the betrayals of life. It may be one whom we have befriended, who has been the object of our loving thought and care, and who in the hour when he thinks to gain himself some advantage or avenge some fancied wrong strikes us in the back, even as he smilingly professes to be a friend. Shall we be embittered in soul and give like for like? God forbid! Let us rather say as Jesus did to Judas, "Friend, wherefore art thou come?" (Matt. 26:50).

III. Condemned by Hatred and Cowardice (15:1-5).

We have only a partial picture of the betrayal of Jesus in our lesson, but it is typical of all that took place, for it reveals the hatred-inspired false witness of the Jews, which, combined with the cowardice of Pilate, resulted in His being condemned to death.

Pilate was convinced of His innocence, but because of the pressure by Jewish leaders he was in a difficult position. He was afraid to follow his convictions, feeling that it was more expedient to yield to the will of the populace. So he lost his great opportunity to write his name large among the heroes of history.

Many there are who follow in Pilate's steps. They know what they ought to do with Jesus, but fearing the comments of friends or the possible loss of earthly advantage, they let Him be crucified afresh by their unbelief.

The Jewish leaders and those whom they had misled hated Jesus with a malicious hatred which made them relentless in their determination to destroy Him. Now they had their quarry at bay and they were determined to close in for "the kill."

They have their present day counterpart in those who have so long rejected Christ that they have become embittered against Him.

There's the Rub

You don't lose friends by lending them money. You lose them by expecting to get it back.

The amateur gardener calls it a day: from daybreak to back-break.

Man can fly like a bird, but, alas, he cannot always alight like one.

That Covers War

Trouble is a lot of people trying to reap a rich harvest from something they didn't sow.

If your luck isn't what you think it should be, put a "p" in front of it and try again.

Some men aren't scared of work. They go to sleep beside it.

Hope Never Dies

Mrs. Green was proudly displaying a new hat to Mrs. Gray.
"It's lovely," said Mrs. Gray: "but how do you manage to get so much money from your husband?"

"Quite simple, my dear," was the triumphant reply. "I just tell him I'm going back to mother, and he immediately hands me the fare."

Trial Treatment

Sufferer—I wish I had some drops to cure this toothache.

Friend—It's all a matter of the mind, not medicine. Yesterday I was feeling terrible. But when I went home my wife put her arms around me and kissed me, and consoled me, so that I soon felt better.

Sufferer—You don't say. Is your wife at home now?

AROUND THE HOUSE

When pressing or ironing, keep a damp sponge in a saucer, close by. It can be used for giving extra dampness to articles, for opening seams or sponging collars and cuffs.

When a suede garment has become wet it should be allowed to dry in ordinary room temperature, never near artificial heat. Place on a coat hanger and shape carefully. Stuff folded paper into the sleeves to shape them.

If the surface of your stove looks rough, it probably is due to an accumulation of stove blacking. Sandpaper rubbed over the surface will make it as smooth as when new.

Coffeepots need thorough washing, scouring, rinsing and airing. Clean the spout with a stiff paint brush, frequently dipped in cleansing powder, and then rinse in quantities of boiling water. Invert until dry. Air the pot in the sun at least once a week.

Never wash the grids of a waffle iron and never put the iron in water. Instead clean the grids with a wire brush and dry cloth, wipe the outside of the iron with a damp cloth and a soft polishing cloth.

The breadbox should be frequently washed out, dried and thoroughly aired by keeping the lid open a little. Thus, the bread never will get a musty taste. To keep it from becoming too dry, place a small washed potato in the box. Moisture is given off by the potato but not enough to cause mildew.

A stick of cinnamon broken into the milk beaten into custards gives the custards a faint cinnamon color but does not darken them.

Try cooking beet greens with bacon. After boiling, the bacon is crisped in frying pan and served with slices of hard-boiled eggs as a border around greens.

A chocolate pie will take on a new flavor if left-over coffee is substituted for half the milk.

PREPAREDNESS by + the AMERICAN RED CROSS

When disaster strikes, the Red Cross is first in and last out.

VOLUNTEER Special Services of the American Red Cross have been geared to meet war requirements and war priorities.

Although a shortage of materials has cut down production work, women who have sewed and knitted for the Red Cross will be glad to know that, under an agreement with the War Production board, a certain amount of wool and yard goods will be available for Red Cross workers, according to Mrs. Dwight Davis, national director of this Red Cross program.

The Red Cross Motor corps has been active since the early days of the First World War, but since last year its work has tripled. Many of the 6,376 members, on account of fire priorities, are restricting the personal use of their cars so that their motor corps work may be continued. Motor corps volunteers drive the ambulances which provide transportation for hospitals and Red Cross chapters, and hold themselves ready for service in any kind of emergency. Besides their basic training in motor mechanics and advanced first aid, many members are now studying map reading, stretcher drills, and convoy and ambulance black-out driving in co-operation with their local police and fire departments.

A new canteen aide corps has recently been formed in preparation for wartime emergencies, when feeding of large groups of people such as evacuees or disaster victims may have to be hastily organized.

Red Cross nurse's aides, who have learned how to help the trained nurses in hospitals and clinics, are now being trained to work on the emergency medical field units set up in large centers in case of air attack.

The other general wartime volunteer services of the Red Cross include home service to the families of the men in the forces, the hospital and recreation corps which brings cheer to the sick and wounded, and the staff assistance corps, which provides volunteers for all kinds of office work in hospitals, clinics and Red Cross chapter and to man information desks and register disaster victims.

Class Prophecy

Where we see Sarah Abel in the line,
Typing letters and dictation,
For the president of the nation.

Air-minded Emmett Barranthe,
Now the head of a big air line,
He and Mary Lou now live
Luxuriously in Beverly Hills.

The greatest pianist of her time,
Dot Talbert is our find
Making use of her early talent
She deserves a husband that is gallant.

In our crystal globe we see
Our old friend Johnnie Lee
He has become quite important
Now manager of Horton and Horton.

Mrs. Dick Trusty, now we see,
Elizabeth Andrews, she used to be,
Cooking, sewing all the time,
To make her home more sublime.

Mozelle McCaula still remains
In Grenada, just the same,
She will work until she is crazy
For her husband who is lazy.

The surprise of the class
Sidney Kettle we find at last,
Now at the top of the ladder,
Eating his meals in a silver platter.

Next in line in Tommie McCaula
Maybe she'll grow a little bit taller, She's made her way by leaps and hops.

As private secretary now, she's found.

Pearl Martindale with her hair so red
With a heart as soft as lead,
Has worked her way to fame and glory
Now has a dress shop on the second story.

Now, we see a dancing school,
Where no one ever breaks a rule,
With Billy Guy Thomas and Margie
Ray T. as owners.

This school will never have any boners
Here's a boy who's really true,
To his own red, white and blue,
Bimble Hale, yes that's his name,
Has joined the Coast Guards, which has brought him fame.

Next, there's Joy Mitchell on the list,
She was such a charming miss,
Now she's a secretary, without a loss or she's married the man who was the boss.

Nellie Joiner, with her charm,
Has never done a bit of harm,
She has remained a single miss,
choosing no man on her list.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

The power of the greatest Navy in the world, our own two-ocean fleet, rests in large measure on its backbone--the Battleships of the Line.
They displace approximately 35,000 tons and cost up to $70,000,000. We have something like a score of these huge ships in the Atlantic and Pacific.

Eight huge battleships are under construction and more are contemplated. To finance these modern goliaths of the sea it is necessary for every American everywhere to buy more and more War Bonds. We can do it if everybody does his share. Invest at least ten percent of your income every pay day to help your country go over its Bond Quota.
